Critical State of the Emperer of China.

The Emperor of China has been suffering from small-por for twenty days, and it is feared that the disease will terminate fatally, as His Imperial Majesty is now lying in a critical state. The Court physicians have little hopes respecting the Emperor's recovery. The royal potient is insensible. and connot see or speak, and he is considered to be dying. The Western Empress is growing worse, and has over 100 nurses to feed her with human milk; but the physicians despair of her recovery, and her death is hearly expected. It Hung-Chang is still in the expital watching closely the progress of events. Prince Chan (the father of the Emperor) and Prince Eung have had a very serious quartel. The death of His Majosty will produce a dynastic resolution, and wast political changes in quarrei. The death of his singlest win processes in dynustic revolution, and wast political changes in the Empire. But as things at present stand, it is quite likely that the facts of the serious illness of the Emperor and the expected demise of the Western Empress will lead to the commencement of a revolution with the object of re-manugurating a purely Chinese dynasis. For cears an impression has prevailed amongst the upper classes of Chineses and it is gaining ground duly, that the present dynasty is, to use a vulgar expression, on its last legs. As the Eustern Empress is dead, and nin Western Empress is dynasty in the feet of a cosp street similar to that which was no complished when the last Emperor died a few years since. Every circumstance seems to point to sake place the Empire may be spared the har rors of a civil war or even the page of political parties fairously contending for the mastery.

Mr. Bishop's Address at Punahou Festival. Errish Gatarra: This was one of the most important and suggestive addresses made on that interesting occasion. There is malter to it sufficient to occupy the efficies of Honolulu for weeks. Let the following point be noted: "For the support of schools off the males from twenty to sixty years of age are limbs to a tax of two dollars." See how how the poor, for the most part, pay for the support of our schools. A rich man pays no nurse than a poor man. A Calmanna, pust arrived from his ecountry, pays equally with the owner of a large plantation, entert as small appropriations are made by the Legislature. According to this showing, property in this Kingdom is not taxed, or but sughtly, for the support of schools. Men of property in this Kingdom pay a name trifle for schools, whereas if they lived in America they would be taxed hundreds and even thousands of dollars. Seek being the case, such persons ought most surely to respond most liberally when an appeal is made to them for the bribling up and endownient of Oulm College. Other points in this admirable address may be noticed on a frame co-casion.

ATTEMPTED ASSASSINATION PRESIDENT GARFIELD.

Two Shots Fired, One Taking Effect in the Liver, the Other Producing a Flesh Wound.

The President Seriously Injured, but the Wound Not Likely to Prove Fatal.

The Would-be Assassin Captured and Safely Lodged in Jail.

Sax Francisco, July 3d, 1880.

An attempt to kill President Garfield was made on Satunday the hi instant.

The President had gone to the Depot of the Baltinoser railroad at 9,20 a.m., to go to Long Branch, and was passing through the Ladies waiting room, arm in arm with Socretary Blains, when he was shot from behind by Gittsau, who was within three feet of him.

The first ball, struck near the hip, passing through his body, and piercing the fiver, the second struck his shoulder. The assassin turned to run, but was immediately secured.

The President was removed to the White House where he lay all day in a critical condition. Although at 8 r.m. it was announced that he could not strucke two hours a change for the better. Thurston for a years sojourn in the Enstern

He had not been there more than three minutes when the President arrived, stepped out of his carriage, and entered the ladies' room. The President, after passing through the door, was just turning the corner of a sext when the assessin, who was standing on the left of the door, fired. The ball strock the President in the back and he fell forward. I ran into the depot, and just then the man fired again, while the President was falling. The moment the President fell a policemum, who had been standing at the depot door keeping the way clear for the President and his party, grabbed the assassin by the neck, and as he pelled him out of the depot another policeman came to his assassin exclusined: "I have killed Garfield: arthur is President. I am a stalwart."

Wissurores, July 2nd.—The prisoner arrived and was placed in the cell about 10:20 o clock, just one hour after the shooting occurred. He gave his name as Charles Guittean, of Chicago, Ill. In appearance he is a man about 30 years of age, and is supposed to be of French descent. His height is about five feet five inches.

McElfrosh saked him: "Is there anybody else with you it this matter?"

He answered: "Not a living sout. I have contemplated this for the last week, and would have about him when he went away with Mrs. Garfield, but I looked at her and she looked so bad that I changed my mind."

On reaching the jail Mr. Russ. the deputy warden, said: "This man has been here before."

Guitteen end: "Tee, I was down here last Saturday morning, and wanted them to let me look through, and they told me that I couldn't, but in come on Monday."

He was saked: "What was your object in looking through?"

The reply was: "I wanted to see what sort of quarters I would have to occupy."

Wasuncarox, July Ind.—There is a theory, which has many adherents, that the attempted assessination was not the work of a lanatic, but the result of a plot much deeper and darker than has been suspected. It is cited in support of this theory that Guitteau arranged beforehand with a hackman to be in readiness to drive him away. In the meantime he had placed a buildie of papers in the hands of a boy, with a view, it is manutained, to creating a belief in his insanity in the event of his capture. Guitteau said on his way to jail that the Freident's assassination was promediated and he went to Long Branch for the purpose of shooting him there, but was deterred by the enfectled and saddened condition of Mrs. Garfield, which appealed so strongly to him.

Those by whom Guitteau has been examined since the shooting say he shows no symptoms of insanity, and it is understood that the letter that has already been telegraphed, addressed to "The White Hoose," is the only document in the collection which supports the theory of insanity. It is reported that Guitteau had an accomplies, whose description is in the hands of the police, and turther developments are sanitually looked for. Dotonel Robert G. Ingersoll says he knew the assessin well, and had always regarded him as a puet, sober and some man. He has no sp
